The unit will accept cylinders up to and including 3.8 litre capacity (31 cu ft)

An internal air cell provides buoyancy control for submerged and surface activities (max 40 Lb lift)

The Mini-B compact scuba diving system represents a safe, sensible and comfortable alternative to conventional scuba diving equipment when mid to full range diving is required.

No more having to assemble and disassemble diving equipment before and after dives. The Mini-B stays pre-assembled at all times - just turn your air on, fold out the hoses, and you're ready to dive! After your dive, rinse in fresh water, turn off your air, fold in the hoses, and stow away for next time.

This simple and effective design is perfect for both beginners and experienced divers and will fit people of all sizes with ease thanks to its unique one size fits all harness system.

The product is streamlined underwater allowing its user to move effortlessly and with less effort than conventional scuba configurations and provides head out of water support on the surface.

A one size fits all harness ensures correct fit for both adults and children

Internal weight pouches negate the need for external weight belts to be used, in most cases
